

For the children - Sally K. ALbrecht / Jay Althouse

For the children, save the trees,
Save the rocks and hills and valleys, save the seas,

We must strive to save the planet and commit to its rebirth.
We must do it for the children : save the earth.

For the children , save the sky.
Let the eagle spread his wings and soar on high.
We're the guardians of the planet, we commit to its rebirth.
We must do it for the cildren : save the earth.

We're the keepers of the future.
We hold it in our hand.
We must ever strike to save this wondrous land.

For the children, save the trees,
Save the rocks and hills and valleys, save the seas,

We must strive to save the planet and commit to its rebirth.
We must do it for the children : save the earth.

For the children : save the earth.
